Invitation

The Australian Nanotechnology Alliance & BDO Kendalls invite you to our February Executive Technology Update Series

Utilising Nanotechnology in Plant Technology for Food and Energy

Prof Peter Gresshoff

*Director, ARC Centre of Excellence in Integrative Legume Research, University of Qld

Professor Peter Gresshoff will discuss Understanding plant stem cells by nanotechnology approaches: Plants like humans contain cell populations that either divide or have divided. Critical signal exchange is needed to keep the balance. Otherwise we have abnormal growths. My laboratory is using a combination of biotechnology and nanotechnology approaches (including work at attomole level!) to dissect the molecular events underlying these complex signal exchanges. The research now has high significance for the sustainable production of biodiesel from non-food legume trees.
